RE: Early Literacy Station

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Campbell County Library Offers Early Literacy Stations for Children

The Campbell County Public Library continues its commitment to children by providing computer literacy as well as free access to information and learning opportunities with Early Literacy Stations (ELS); these services are available at all four library branches. The Early Literacy Station offers:

- challenging and exciting computer programs for children
- durable and colorful keyboards
- specialized computer mice, designed for smaller hands
- simple computer menus, designed for children
- easy directions to follow
- computer literacy packages with a talking menus (making it less likely for young children to find themselves in programs that too advanced for them)

Programs like Reader Rabbit Toddler, Read Between the Lions, the Cat in the Hat, Millie's Math House, Encarta Kids 2006, Microsoft Paint and My Amazing Body are just a few of the educational titles available. The Early Literacy Station is geared for children, ages pre-school through third grade. The Campbell County Public Library is pleased to offer these technological resources to give children the opportunities necessary for learning and success.
